

General Criminal Law

JP Karsenty's lawyers accompany and defend their clients before the criminal courts - police court, criminal court and assize court - for all types of offenses.

The criminal law team acts on behalf of individuals or legal entities, whether they are defendants or victims. In line with our international vision and our ability to understand international issues, the firm regularly works with foreign individuals or companies.

During the investigation phase, the persons are accompanied by a reactive, efficient and available team, which will constantly guarantee the preservation of your rights and interests by performing all the necessary acts during the procedure. During the trial phase, you will also benefit from an active and tailor-made criminal defence.

JP Karsenty also represents detainees and convicts before the liberty and custody judge and the courts of enforcement of sentences.

The general criminal law team is led by Matthieu Chirez and Thomas Ricard, former secretaries of the Conference. They are accompanied by a team consisting of a senior associate and a junior associate.

In the framework of a pro bono activity, JP Karsenty is also involved in supporting associations, in order to advise them on all their legal issues in criminal law.